

Anoop Verma

Mr. Anoop Verma leads Technical Products, Innovation, and Applications for a nonprofit global leader in healthcare. Prior to this, he led strategy, planning, architecture and delivery function in companies ranging from startups to Fortune 100 companies. He has led as well as advised on major organizational transformations to Agile innovation and delivery.

An inspirational leader, Mr. Verma graduated from Indian Institute of Technology (earlier called University of Roorkee), India before getting his Master's degree from Wayne State University, Detroit and M.B.A. from Kellogg School of Management at Northwestern University. He has spoken at university and conference sharing his insights on the strategic integration of strategy, planning and execution functions to achieve higher business value in a sustainable manner.

As a committed PAN IIT alum, he has led alumni programs and conferences at regional and global levels.